Virginia General Assembly Fellowship Program 2019-2020

The President's Office seeks a student interested in state government and policy for the Virginia General Assembly Fellowship program. Fellows work in Government Relations in support of the President's Office during fall and spring semesters. During the fall semester, the Fellow has a regular assistantship and is based in Blacksburg and expected to make occasional trips to Richmond. The Fellow is given research projects throughout the semester, and is expected to help with special events.

During the spring semester, the Fellow serves in a full time role and is based in Richmond during the legislative session in order to monitor and participate in the activities of the General Assembly. After the session, the Fellow returns to Blacksburg to help with end of session wrap up items.

Throughout the year, fellows learn to track legislation and have an opportunity to see how policy is made at the state level. During the legislative session, they are expected to attend committee meetings, analyze legislation, and provide updates to administrators on campus as needed. The position also provides exposure to the budget making process for the Commonwealth. Students are expected to fulfill the obligations of a full assistantship in the fall semester, a full time position in the spring semester during the session, and a full assistantship after the session.

The fellowship recipient may take a class at the Virginia Tech Richmond Center or register for online courses and/or independent studies. Additionally, this program can be used to satisfy the internship component of the Masters in Public Administration program.

Compensation: Student will receive a full assistantship and tuition waiver for fall semester and spring semester. During the legislative session, a housing and food stipend is provided to cover lodging and meals.
